More Tech Moguls Put Their Money On Trump
Shift in long-island Silicon Valley is highlighted by Musk's support

By big names in tech are tapping Trump's way, as shift likely to change how executives are courted by Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, theGOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech executives are also courting Silicon Valley moguls with financial support for Trump, the GOP presidential candidates, and even the Biden administration. These big-name tech execu...