Presidential contest many voters have been dreading likely to be full of barbs

By Shane Goldmacher

The past 30 years have witnessed the rise of a new kind of presidential ticket for the 2020 race: thanks to the Donald Trump campaign and its meme pandering, a new generation of candidates has been born. The result is a field of candidates that is more diverse than ever and more willing to take on the incumbent president. This has led to a new kind of presidential race, one that is more competitive and more likely to be decided by a single, decisive voter. And with that comes a new kind of campaign rhetoric.

Haley out, so it’s Trump-Biden II

California’s政权 women are being watched closely by the national party. The first female president in the state’s history, Barbara Boxer, is back in the race. The other female candidates, Dianne Feinstein and Kamala Harris, are also in the mix. The race is heating up, and the pressure is on the women to prove their worth.
